

Todd & Weld LLP

Peer Review Proceedings

Todd & Weld health law attorneys represent medical professionals involved in peer review proceedings, helping them to avoid loss of privileges or other disciplinary outcomes. Hospital-based peer reviews are deceptively informal and can quickly escalate. The consequences can be potentially devastating to a medical professional's reputation and practice – including institutional sanctions, suspension of privileges, and referral to the Board of Registration.

We also advise health care institutions on how to properly conduct peer review proceedings.

Related Practices

- Health Law
- Billing Audits
- Compliance Advice
- Fraud and Abuse Investigations and Claims
- Medical Licensing Boards